MODERN JOHAHR.

Captain S. A. Swinnerton, having sailed the sea for many years, is now keeper of Lightship No. 23, off Noank, Conn. During his sea life Captain Swinnerton as a whaler, says the New York Her tain Davis own way of saying he has lived in the beilies of five different whales.

Unfortunately for the strictest possible application of Captain Davis Timeel, his experience to the scriptural story, but no doubt fortunate for Captain Davis Timeel, his whales were dead. But he was in them of that there is no doubt—and he has ived to smoke a pips and tell about it, and Captain Swinnerton tells the story of his friend's experience thus:

"I dired yesterday with a man, now seventy-five years of age, who has been in the bellies of fayed direct whales. He is Captain James R. Davis, of Noank, Coim, and this was done when he was a young man of twenty-three years of age. He was one of the crew of the whaling shap tigger. Captain William flewwher, of Stonington, Conn., which left that place is 18th, milted direct aryund the Horn to the whaling grounds of the Pacific. Afterward the ship sailed to Magdalena any off the Lower California coast. The grayback whales use it as a breeding ground and are found here in great numbers. The cow whales float up on the sandy shore of the still waters and when the tides fall th young whales are burn of the beach. The calf when plon has its enough for it to use it to swim.

"The mother whale will sport about the bays until her baby gets the crook out of its tall and then teaches it to swim. The cow whale when about to dive is very fat and valuable and yields about forty surrels from the linside heart fat and that about the liver and entrails.

"The mother whales mever desert their was the surrels from the linside heart fat and that about the liver and entrails."

The mother whales never desert their young and thus become easy, captures. After being killed they are fowed along-side the ship. A curting-in chain is fastened to the side in. a tackle from it to the malnyard hauled tight and one strip of blabber cut into. This is called a blanket piece. Then the ribs are cut at the backbone and the blanket piece and he ribs are hauled up from the carcass, teaving a hole in the upper part of the body just back of the head.

"A man enters this hole and cuts all the fatty substance from about the head, which is shaped like a chicken's gizzard, but from two feet to thirty inches in diameter.

but from two feet to thirty inches in diameter.

"Captain Davis told me that he was in a different whale each day for five days, being inside each mammal about an bour doing this work, and that it is a common custom for a whaler to be for a time a Jonah in the whale's stomach.

"Captain Davis has been a Jonah on five different occasions. Now, if a young man of twenty-three years can live in a whale's stomach, even though the whale be dead, why could not the Jonah or fible live three days and as many nights in that famed whale of scripture? Captain Davis' five whales had not been dead very long when he was in them."

ger the cigar desiers will be able to stand the pressure and put clear Hava-na cigars over the counters at old na cigars over the counters at old prices is a question that is interesting the cigar-amoking public. Thus far there have been two advances on prices to the trade; yet none of the local dealers have put up the retail prices and all of them have assured their customers that, as long as their present stocks hold out, they will maintain the eld prices. But stocks have been heavily drawn upon during the last three months and now, according to advices received yesterday from J. D. Meyer, who is in Zampa, Florida, another advance in price is imminent. Mr. Meyer wired yesterday:

One local dealer, who is finding difficulty in getting clear Havana goods, is making arrangements to supply his water with Mexican wrapped goods. At present a prejudice exist against dexican wrapped cirars, but the exigencies of the situation have brought out a high grade of Mexican wrapper that is considered an excellent substitute for the clear Havana wrapper.

Two of the smallest men in the city were standing at the curbstone waiting for a car. The conversation had been about the traditional feminine tendency to extravagance, and the difficulty they had in keeping their domestic expenditures down to what they considered a reasonable limit.

"There they are now!" exclaimed one there they are now!" exclaimed one

"They seem to be talking very earnestly about spending something."
"I'll bet I can tell what my wife is talking about."
"Are you a mind reader?"
"No. Rut I can make a guess on that subject. I'll bet you a dinner I can, anyhow."
"All right. She's talking about spending money. We'll go up behind them and overhear what they are saying to prove it."

The Pursuit and What Came of it.

stealthily she crept up behind the young man as he drew near the magnifern mansion upon the famous avenue. He was tall and handsome and a happy look overspread his features. It was clear that he did not suspect that he was being followed, and, as he turned into the path that led up through the spacious laws and wound about among the noble old trees, he hummed a love song that he had learned in his youth, James Bellington was soing that night to propose to Laura Dairymple, the daughter of the great from king.

Upon the face of the young woman who followed the handsome knighthere was a look of grim determination. She held something in one of her hands, but kept it so well concealed beneath her loose closk that a casual observer could not have seen what it was.

Cat-like she followed him up the path and, when he stood in the spacious vestibule waiting to be admitted into the presence of his adored one, his pursuer lingered near by, in the shadow of one of the mighty cake.

It was apparent that she was somewhat nervous, yet the look of determination alld not lade from her countenance.

The hour of my criumple is at hand, also multiced, and, furrisdly drawling from beneath her closk the mysterious something that she had carried them; also prepared to act.

But she didn't shoot, No. she was in the service of the 'new journalism, and had been sent out to write up James Bellington's proposal.

Her account of the affair was three columns long, and she had sketched this loving couple in eight different positions. This sent the circulation of the paper up to the 1,000,000 mark, and she was rewarded with a Eth bill, and some personal attentions from the proprietor that cannot, owing to a leak of space, be recounted at this time.—Cleveland Leader.

The exceedingly uncertain tenure of confidence manifested in the prices on the London exchange was also reflected here, especially at the opening and the trading opened with a variable rush downward of prices. The low level thus quickly reached invited covering and prices recovered somewhat, but were soon tending downward agalin. Stop orders were uncovered by the constant fall in values and very large holdings of prices recovered somewhat, but were soon tending downeard agaila. Stop orders were uncovered by the constant fall in values and very large holdings of many stooks were thrown over. This lowest point was reached in the morning hour and after poon a straggling improvement set in, which resulted in partial recovery in many stocks. The day's transactions were large, especially on the morning declines; and there were heavy dealings for professional secount, but large amounts of long stock also came out. The outside buying movement which was started by the Lake Shore retunding bond issue and the accompanying purchase of Vanderbilt properties for inside interests has been entirely suspended. The Vanderbilts scored sharp losses to-day, though the sales were not large. Michigan Central sold at 23, against 58 for the last previous sale, though it had in the meantime been bid down by steps. The low priced shares cut quite a figure in the selling, the Goulds particularly. Missouri Pacific broke 34 per cent on reports that that road had cut the rate of freight on eggs, but recovered 14, per cent on subsequent denial. The price at the decline was 14½ per cent, the lowest on record.

CHICAGO-Bad crop reports and a renewal of the European war scare made a strong wheat market to-day, but the lightness of the trade preven-ted much advance, the May option closing %c higher. Corn had a sudden bulge and closed %c higher. Oats advanced %c and provisions closed 7%c lower to 2½c higher.

Wheat started firm notwithstanding some matters of discouraging character. The amount of wheat on passage decreased only 400,000 bushels last week, notwithstanding the fact that the quantity put afloat in that time, from all countries was only 3,725,900 bushels. Beeham's reports of the world's shipments fee, the week made the total 4,270, 000 bushels. The latter feature of the week's international trade was one of the reasons for the opening strength, although the firmness was principally attributed to a ¼c decline in British consols and louder rumblings from the war threatened East. Northwest receipts were very heavy, but this feature of the morning's new was almost entirely ignored Minnespots and Duluth reported 444 cars against 334 last week and 535 on the corresponding day last day. Chicago receipts were 14 cars and 30,000 bushels were withdrawn from store. Opening sales of May were made at 17% 67%c. Compared with Saturday's closing price of 72%c. For over an hour the market ruled very dull and the extent of the fluctuations was from 12% to 73½c, but the highest of these quotations was exceeded after the visible statement was published. Perhaps the latter, bullish as it was, would not have stirred the trade much, but about the same time snow crop report was given out, making the general average condition for winter wheat 83.5 against 87 a year ago and remarking that the present is the lowest April condition on record except that of 1855. Shorts took alarm at this and brought in a considerable portion of long wheat, which caused May to advance to 73%c. During the last hour, some reaction occurred on crop reports as to the condition of country stocks, tried to cover but found none to buy. Buyers for the long account made their appearance and prices went up in a hurry. A good seaboard demand was also a feature. Exports amounted to 775,000 bushels. May opened a shade higher at 13½c, sold sparingly at 24½62½c, rose to 25c and closed at 24%c bid.

Oats were quiet and uninteresting during the CHICAGO—In cattle there was a fairly active demand and strictly choice cattle showed considerable strength but the general run sold at an average reduction of 10c per 100 pounds. Sales were at 33 7004 00 for the poorest dressed beef steers up to 35 0006 25 for choice to prime cattle with fancy lots quotable as high an 35 00. The bulk of the cattle sold at 34 2595 00 and exporters continued good buyers at 34 6006 25. The stockers and feeder trade was active at last week's advanced prices with an especially good demand for choice feeders to shipment to Ohlo. Canners again sold at low prices but fat cows and helfers continued to sell actively at the best prices of the season. Bulls were unchanged and so were calves and Texas fed cattle.

Receipts of hogs were unexpectedly large and reductions of $6210c per 100 pounds, last Saturday's quotations resulted: Heavy packing lots sold at 37 5693 90 and the best heavy hogs brought 34 15, the bulk of the hogs selling at 34 0006 10. The market closed about 10c lower.
